Mr. Robert Amory
Deputy Director for Intelligence
Central Intelligence Agency
2430 "E" Street, N.W.
Washington 25, D.C.

My dear Mr. Amory:

For the first time this summer, the Naval Intelligence School is presenting a short course to senior Allied naval officers. In conjunction with the subject of collection, a presentation is planned on "Sketching - an Aid to Observation." This presentation is scheduled for 1330-1530 on Wednesday, 27 July 1960. In the past, [redacted] has most effectively covered this subject for the School's Postgraduate Course. It would be sincerely appreciated if he might be made available for the above-mentioned lecture.

If this request is granted, details may be arranged by informal liaison with Commander L. K. Jordan, USN, who will coordinate this matter on behalf of the School. He may be contacted by telephone on code 1215, extension 458.

Sincerely yours,

G. S. COLEMAN
Captain, U.S. Navy
